

Soccer-for-Parents

As I was searching the Internet the other day I came across a website called Soccer-for-Parents &ndash; www.soccer-for-parents.com .

The person who set it up is called Randy Gardner and he and his family live in Kingsport, TN.

I don&rsquo;t know Randy, but in some respects I do. He got into coaching when his eldest son, Dustin, began playing soccer at age-7. Randy had never played soccer, didn&rsquo;t know the rules and did not know how to coach. Those involved with grassroots soccer will recognize the likes of Randy and the great job people like him do.

If you go to his site you will see he has learned a whole lot about soccer since 1999 and has provided plenty of first-class information for soccer parents and coaches. There is a commercial aspect to the site as he has affiliations with a number of soccer companies and amazon.com, but there is a ton of useful content about the game at absolutely no cost.

Might be worth bookmarking the site - www.soccer-for-parents.com.
